ADMIRAL BOYD

HMS London Returning To Colony

Admiral Sir Denis Boyd, Commander-in-Chief of the British Pacific Fleet, is due to return to Hong Kong on Saturday in HMS London.

On Monday, Sir Denis will leave for Singapore where the headquarters of the Pacific Fleet is being transferred.

HMS London, accompanied by HMS Sussex, Consort and Hart left on July 21 for Japanese ports. Other units followed later.

The ports visited included Tokyo, Kure, Kobe, Nagoya, Sasebo, Aomori, Otaru, Tateyama, Yokosuka, Kureshima, and Minato. During the tour of Japanese ports, the British warships were engaged in practical exercises with units of the American Fleet.

HMS London was originally due to return to Hong Kong on September 10 and will for Singapore five days later.

The naval authorities yesterday could give no reason for the change. They added that they do not think it has any connection with the unsettled situation in Japan.

HMS London is arriving on Saturday from Ominato. HMS Sussex and Hart are due to reach the Colony on September 10. HMS Alert will sail for Singapore on September 10 and HMS Black Swan will leave for the same port on September 14.

A Pied Piper Perhaps?

Six children between the ages of nine and ten were discovered on board a ferry bound for Cheung Chau shortly after 1 p.m. yesterday.

Their presence on board the ferry was discovered when all of them attempted to dive overboard, but members of the ferry crew stopped them in time.

The kids said they had followed a funeral procession to the ferry pier and boarded the ferry without knowing they had done so until the ferry was well on the way.

Their attempt to dive overboard was to swim ashore to Kennedy Town and then return home.

They were, however, handed to the police when the ferry returned to Hong Kong last night and returned to their parents.

The parents had earlier reported to the police of their children's disappearance.

Waterfront Strike Blocked

New York, August 24: The Federal district judge today granted an injunction blocking a strike of East Coast Longshoremen.

The injunction is effective for 30 days from August 21 and replaces the temporary restraining order which the judge issued on Saturday, a few hours before the deadline for the strike by 45,000 members of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association.

Attorneys for the Government sought the court order to block the strike on orders from President Truman, who said the walk-out would tie up shipping on the East Coast and imperil national health and security.

The injunction granted was obtained under the Taft-Hartley law which provides for court order to block strikes for as long as 60 days.—United Press.

Shuts Down Consulates, Tells USA To Get Out Of Vladivostok

KOSENKINA AFFAIR SEQUEL

London, August 25. Russia curtailed diplomatic relations with the United States today, shutting down her consulates in New York and San Francisco, in retaliation for the State Department expulsion of the Soviet Consul-General, Mr. Jacob Lomakin, from New York over the Kosenkina affair.

Moscow has also ordered the American consulate in Vladivostok to go out of business immediately, and told Washington to consider the agreement for the opening of an American consulate in Leningrad as no longer valid.

In Washington, State Department officials said that Russia will lose more in the closing of the consulates than America will. The Russian consulates in New York and San Francisco, they said, have been allowed complete freedom of movement and have been important sources of commercial and other information for the Soviet Government.

The Russian communication, a reply to the United States note of August 19, rejecting the Soviet complaints over the affair of Mrs. Kosenkina and her fellow school teacher, Mr. Michael Samarin, said that "the normal execution of their functions by the Soviet consulates in the United States has become impossible."

Russia's reply to the United States note of last week, asking for the recall of the New York Consul-General was received by the State Department after office hours last night.

The United States note rejected the Russian demands that the school-teacher, who were to have sailed for the Soviet Union on July 31, be turned over to the Soviet authorities. Mrs. Kosenkina from her hospital bed in New York, where she lies seriously injured as a result of her third story plunge from the Russian Consulate on August 12, and Mr. Samarin from his hide-out known to the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The Washington note said that investigations indicated that officials of the Russian Government have been engaged in conduct which is highly improper.

Moscow today described this charge as unfounded and contrary to fact and accused the State Department of hindering the clarification of this affair and the part taken in it by certain persons and bodies.

The American note charged the Russian Consul-General with hindering police investigations during the period from August 6 to August 12 and that Mrs. Kosenkina was alleged to have been held a prisoner in the consulate.

"Imprisonment" followed on what the Consulate had described as her "rescue" from Reed Farm, a White Guard refuge of the Tolstoy Foundation, in the hill country, north of the city.

The Soviet reply cited letters written by Mrs. Kosenkina on August 5, the day before the "rescue" and on July 10, to her family, and asserted that the Soviet Consul-General had acted in accord with the legitimate interests of the Soviet Union in defending its citizens from criminal attempts against their liberty and civil rights.

The Moscow statement said that the American Government had in its hands the confirmation of the kidnapping of the two Soviet teachers, of the part played in it by the "bandit white guard organization" and of the FBI's involvement.

In answer to the reports that Mrs. Kosenkina, along with her husband, had been granted asylum in the United States, had accused the consulate officials of keeping her a prisoner, the Russian statement said: "Since at present Mrs. Kosenkina is in hospital, virtually under prison conditions, and free communication between her and the Soviet representatives is not permitted, statements ascribed to her cannot be considered as deserving any confidence, especially if one takes into consideration the state of her health."

Charges "Unfounded"

The note demanded free and unobstructed access to Mrs. Kosenkina, and to Mr. Samarin, whose whereabouts are still unknown to Moscow, although he has given secret evidence before the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Moscow said Washington's charges that Mr. Lomakin had abused the prerogatives of his position and grossly violated internationally accepted standards, were unfounded and not corresponding with facts.

"In view of the above circumstances, the Soviet Government had decided (a) immediately to close both the Soviet consulates in the United States—in New York and in San Francisco, (b) to consider the United States consulate in Vladivostok subject to immediate closure in accordance with the principle of reciprocity; to regard, on the same grounds, as having lost its validity the understanding previously reached between the USSR and the United States regarding the opening of a U.S. consulate in Leningrad."—Reuter.

ISOLATIONIST MOVE, LONDON EXPERTS SAY

London, August 25. Experts on Soviet affairs here today considered the closing down of Russian consulates in the United States as the most striking manifestation of the new Soviet isolationism since the end of the war.

The experts believed the Kosenkina affair and the expulsion of the Soviet Consul-General, Mr. Jacob Lomakin, served as a pretext to last night's Soviet announcement on the future of American-Soviet consular relations.

Russia's chief purpose in taking the new measures according to the experts, was to keep Americans out of Russia and to reduce the number of Soviet citizens in the United States to the strictest minimum.

Similar Measures

The closing down of the American consulate in Vladivostok and cancellation of the American-Soviet agreement regarding the opening of an American consulate in Leningrad were compared here to similar measures which the Russian government took in the winter of 1937-38 immediately after the big purge when the fear of foreign spies ran high in Moscow and when diplomats were suspected of secretly co-operating with anti-Stalinist opposition.

Russia, then approached Germany, Italy, Japan, Poland and Britain with a request to cut down consular representation. In anticipation of this step Russia had already abolished most of her consulates abroad so that she could demand the establishment of "mutual parity" of consular posts.

The same procedure is now applied by Russia in her consular relations with the United States although this time she preferred an abrupt gesture to lengthy negotiations which she conducted in 1937.

Pressure On Britain

But even then considerable difficulties arose, particularly with Britain which closed down its Moscow consulate but wanted to keep Russia's largest port, Leningrad. This did not, however, meet Russia's purpose for the Soviet government was anxious to do away with all foreign observation posts in the second Soviet capital where anti-Stalin opposition was traditionally strong.

16 DEAD IN B-29 CRASH

Honolulu, August 25. Sixteen of the 20 members of the crew of an Okinawa-bound B-29 were killed last night when the big plane lost an engine and crashed in flames at Hickam Field.

Four men were rescued from the flaming wreckage and taken to the army's nearby Tripler Hospital.

The crew included 16 enlisted men and four officers.

Witnesses said the Superfortress exploded while sliding along a ground skid, scattering wreckage for quarter of a mile and smashing two power substations.

The crash was the worst in Hawaiian aviation history. It occurred within eight minutes after the plane took off for Kwajalein with a petrol load of 7,000 gallons.

Eye-witnesses said flames shot up to 500 feet when the plane exploded and burned.

Air force personnel were unable to explain how four members of the crew survived the crash. They said all were able to talk and two were even found walking after the crash.

It was believed these two either jumped from the escape doors a split second before the crash, or were thrown clear of the flames.

The only piece of the huge plane left intact was the towering tail section.—United Press.

RAILWAY BATTLE

Canton, August 24. One woman was killed and 10 other people were injured in a pitched battle between railway passengers and a gang of robbers at a station along the Canton-Hankow railway line, it is reported here.

The robbers attempted to steal the luggage of the passengers and, despite the fact that many of them were variously armed, they were resisted. Several of the thieves were arrested, but the majority escaped.—Reuter.

Govt Asked Not To Deny The Press Of Correct Information

Both Government and the Press came under criticism from the Hon. Mr. D. F. Landale, senior unofficial member, when the Rent (War Period) Relief Ordinance came up for second reading in Legislative Council yesterday.

Mr. Landale said that as a result of Government withholding information from the Press when legislation was contemplated, certain editorials appeared which misrepresented the whole issue to the public.

"The Bill, in draft form, was circulated to a number of bodies representative both of the landlord community and the tenant community, with a request for their comments."

"It was perhaps inevitable that with this wide circulation the Press should get wind of it, and I believe certain sections of the Press approached the Government for further information which was denied them. Had the information been given, the unfortunate result that a number of misinformed editorials were published, which misrepresented the whole issue to the public, would in all probability have been avoided."

Distorted Facts

"We would like to suggest, therefore, that when Government again adopts a similar method of initiating Legislation, the Press, through the newly reinforced Press Relations Office, be kept correctly informed. This should greatly assist in making their editorial comments helpful and constructive."

"I also commend to certain sections of the Press this suggestion, that if Government adopts this course they take pains not to distort facts given to them by the Press Relations Office, as in fact happened in the case of one Chinese paper after the Press Conference held by my Hon. Friend the Attorney General when details of this Bill were made available."

Birmingham Back To Work

Birmingham, August 24. Seventeen thousand strikers at the Austin automobile works in Birmingham will be resuming work on the night shift tonight, the Austin Motor Company announced.

The management have agreed to suspend their present methods of fixing place work pay while negotiations take place. The men's decision earlier today to return to work was conditional on this agreement. The strike, which began last Thursday, was not officially supported by the men's union.—Reuter.

Bill Passed

The Bill passed its second and third readings with an amendment proposed by the Acting Attorney General, Mr. G. E. Strickland.

The Bill aims at relieving tenants from the payment of rent for the occupation period.

Two other Bills passed into law at the same session. They were:

The Public Health (Sanitation) Amendment Ordinance, 1948, which provides for the conversion of the Kennedy Town cemetery into a quaternary settlement.

The Radio-Active Minerals Ordinance, 1948 to regulate and control prospecting and mining for such minerals in the Colony and their export.

ANTI-RED DRIVE

Britain And Siam Co-operating

London, August 24. The Foreign Office today confirmed that broad British-Siamese co-operation is taking place in a joint effort to cope with the elusive Communist-led guerrillas in East Malaysia.

A spokesman said that the British Ambassador in Bangkok, Mr. G. H. Thompson, has kept the Siamese Government informed about all phases of the Malayan authorities' "fight against the guerrillas."

He said the Siamese have been "helpful" whenever their co-operation has been called for.

Britain informally is exchanging information with Siam about Communist activity in South East Asia with countries which include India, Pakistan, Burma and China, apart from Siam.

In addition, as she is committed to co-ordinate her foreign policy with France and Holland—under the Brussels treaty—it can be assumed that British military and civil leaders know all they need to about Communist activity in Indonesia and Vietnam.

The question of sending still more forces to Malaya over and above the Gurkha Brigade which was the latest formation to be assigned there, is expected to arise, aged news.

Briton Killed

In Singapore today, Mr. John Becker, a 48-year-old British merchant, was shot dead today by a Chinese. Police said that there was no political motive and they believed the attacker was mentally unbalanced.

A patrol of Gurkha troops today killed two Chinese insurgents carrying Siamese travel permits in Kedah State.

It was the first documentary evidence of Chinese Communist infiltration from Siam into rebellious Malaya.

Lt. Luang Chattrakan, Siam's Police Chief, denied in Bangkok the Malayan and London reports that armed Chinese bands are operating in Siam across the border from the Malayan state of Kelantan.

"Ridiculous"

Lt. Luang asserted that strong Siamese cavalry units are at the border there. He said it is "ridiculous" to report armed Chinese activity in the area.

British reporters said on Sunday in Kuala Lumpur, capital of Malaya, that no Siamese troops

Stamp Bill Replaced

The Stamp Amendment Ordinance 1948, which passed its first reading on June 10, 1948, was withdrawn by the Acting Financial Secretary, Mr. A. G. Clarke, in Legislative Council yesterday.

In its place he introduced a new Bill under the same name, which he said was based on sounder principles than the earlier Bill.

The new Bill imposes an ad valorem duty of 5 per cent on all conveyances on sale; and on conveyances which had not already paid a 10% excess duty, should in addition pay a further 3% ad valorem duty by way of excess duty.

The motion was seconded by the Colonial Secretary, Mr. D. M. MacDougall, and carried unanimously.

Two Hurt In Gang Brawl

Two men were injured as a result of a gang fight between painters and coolies at Morrison Hill Road shortly after 6 p.m. yesterday. The injured were taken to the Queen Mary Hospital by ambulance.

According to a report there had been enmity between the two gangs engaged in the construction of a building.

A quarrel over some work occurred yesterday and, realizing the opportunity, the two rival gangs clashed. More than 20 men armed with knives and hammers engaged in a free-for-all.

Two were taken to hospital, one suffering from injuries to legs and back while the other had a fractured skull.

Three members of the gang were arrested, and after questioning two were released and one detained.

Tornado Hits NZ Town

Wellington, August 25. The Prime Minister of New Zealand, Mr. Peter Fraser, was today flying to Frankton Junction, near Hamilton, North Island, where three people were killed and 17 injured by a tornado.

The tornado completely razed one street in Frankton Junction and damaged many houses. It left hundreds of people homeless and disrupted communications.

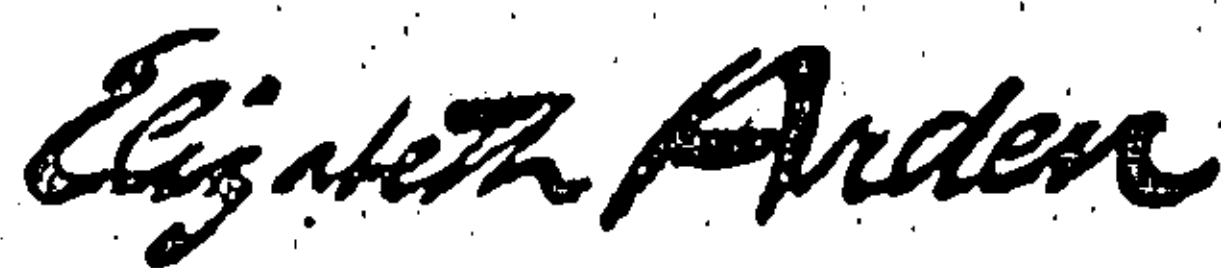

The army has taken over control of the area.—Reuter.

POLICE CONSTABLES ON BRIBERY CHARGES

When police constable Wong Chik-sang heard that the woman driver of a private car did not possess a driver's licence he allegedly said to her that the bail for that offence would be at least $1,000, and the fine $500.

He was further alleged by the complainant to have told her that as the day was a Sunday there would be nobody in the police station and that, consequently, she would have to spend the night in detention.

This was stated in Mr. J. Wicks' court at Kowloon yesterday by Veronica Chan, a 22-year-old spinster, in the course of her evidence against police constables Denny Yen, Wong Chik-sang and Chan Yat-fan, charged with agreeing to accept, attempting to obtain, and obtaining a bribe of $100 from her.

All three accused were charged with the first two offences, and the second and third with the third.

Mr. J. P. Griffith represented the defendants, while Detective Sub-Inspector J. W. MacDonald prosecuted. Mr. Alfred Y. Hon held a watching brief for complainant.

Veronica Chan was earlier in the day brought before Mr. W. A. Blair-Kerr on the charge of offering a bribe of $100 to the police constables at 17 Belfrain Road, Kowloon Tong, on July 25, but was discharged when the prosecution withdrew the case against her.

According to DSI MacDonald, the three constables were on a dog-shooting patrol between 3 p.m. and 7 p.m. on July 25, and at 4.30 p.m. saw a private car approaching along York Road.

Given $100

The car was stopped by them and, after a conversation with the occupants, the constables and the car passengers went to 17 Belfrain Road. As the result of certain conversations with the woman driver the constables were given $100.

A report was later made to the Kowloon City Police Station and, after making inquiries, DSI MacDonald detained the three accused on July 31. They were charged on the following day, the first at Shamshuipo, the second at Mong Kok, and the third at Yau Ma Tei police stations.

In Chit-kwong, interpreter attached to the Kowloon City police station, testified that when charged, first accused replied, "I did not receive her money. I was having defaulters' drill from 5 p.m. to 6 p.m."

Second defendant, in reply to the charge, said, "I did not receive her money. I was sitting on board the 'Van'. Chan said 'I did not receive $100. I did not see such a thing on that day.'"

Police constable, Lui Shu-tong stated that he was one of the men who had to attend the defaulters' parade on the day in question. The drill should have commenced at 5 p.m. but due to the late arrival of the first defendant, who was the instructor, it did not start until 10 minutes later.

Charges Changed

At this stage of the proceedings Mr. Griffith asked for a clarification of the charges against the accused. The charge at first stood, he said, did not reveal which defendant was being charged with which offence. It would appear from the charge, as laid, that all defendants were being charged with agreeing to accept, or attempting to obtain, or counselling and procuring, the bribe.

The magistrate replied that the whole thing hung on the use of the word "or", and suggested to prosecuting officer that the charges be re-framed into separate counts, with the offending word deleted.

After an adjournment of 30 minutes, the court resumed when the new charges were preferred against the accused.

In the course of her 75 minutes' evidence, Veronica Chan said that she lives at 38 Queen's Road Central, third floor, and that she went with her brother, Paul Chan, and his girl friend to the Lee Po Garage, at Nathan Road, about 2.15 p.m. to hire a car. She drove the car to 17 Belfrain Road, Kowloon Tong, to pick up her step-mother, and then went on to Tuen Wan where they stayed for about two hours to worship the Goddess of Mercy.

Told To Stop

On the return trip to Kowloon Tong, she drove along Prince Edward Road to Waterloo Road. Just as she got to York Road, she saw a police van parked in York Road.

As she passed the police van she heard a voice calling out in English, "Stop." She did so, and the first accused approached the car, which was being driven by the second and third accused, and asked her, in Chinese, whether she had a licence.

When asked to produce the licence, she told him that she did not bring it. The first defendant asked her, "Have you really and truly got a licence?"

"I told him, no," said witness, adding that she was then asked where she lived. "I told him in Hong Kong, at 38 Queen's Road Central, third floor. I also gave him the telephone number."

Ng then asked her who the owner of the car was, said witness, and she claimed ownership. On being asked a second time, she told him that the car belonged to her brother, Chan King-cheong, who lives at 17 Belfrain Road.

Too Nervous

"I was then asked to drive to the place. But I was so nervous that I could not start the car. The first defendant then took over the wheel and, followed by the police van, we went along to 17 Belfrain Road."

"When I asked what would happen," said Veronica Chan, "second defendant said that the bail for this type of offence would be at least $1,000, and the fine not less than $500. He also added that the day being Sunday there would be nobody in the police station and that I would have to be detained for the night."

Witness went on to say that on arrival at 17 Belfrain Road, she found that her brother Chan King-cheong was not home, after the whole party of seven (three constables and the four occupants of the car) had gone up to the first floor balcony.

Witness will continue with her evidence this afternoon.

Concession For Trade Commissioners

The Trade Commissioners' Privileges Ordinance 1948, which provides for the remission of taxes, duties and fees to which trade commissioners and assistant trade commissioners may be subjected when payment of such moneys is inconsistent with the privileges of that office, passed its first reading in Legislative Council yesterday.

Explaining the measure, the Acting Attorney General, Mr. G. E. Strickland, said Government had been approached on behalf of the Trade Commissioners for Australia and Canada asking that the privileges normally extended to Consuls should also be extended to them.

Privileges extended to Consuls are provided for in the Consulate Privileges Ordinance 1947, and the present Bill followed the lines of that Ordinance.

Supplementary Provision Approved

A supplementary provision of $9,200,172 for the quarter ended March 31, 1947, was approved by Legislative Council yesterday.

The Acting Financial Secretary, Mr. G. Clarke, informed Council that all the items in the schedule had been recommended for approval by the Finance Committee.

He added the items ranged in size from one of more than $2,000,000 for stores, to two of $4, and in view of the fact that the estimates for 1946/47 were little more than inspired guesses, they had not done too badly.

The largest excess, that of unallocated stores, merely indicated that rehabilitation materials came in more quickly than had been expected.

Amendments to by-laws governing the sale of milk and containers holding milk, passed by the Urban Council on August 3, were approved by Legislative Council yesterday.

Illegal Entry Alleged

John Willis, aged 52, American subject of 19 Jordan Road, restaurant keeper, was charged before Mr. F. X. d'Almada at Central yesterday with entering the colony without the permission of the Immigration Authorities.

It was alleged that Willis, someone between June 25 and July 8 of last year, deserted his ship, the ss. Jonathan Harrington, and came to live in the colony.

A request by Willis to obtain legal aid was granted by the magistrate, who remanded the case until this morning.

Amendments to by-laws governing the sale of milk and containers holding milk, passed by the Urban Council on August 3, were approved by Legislative Council yesterday.

CORRESPONDENCE

Govt. Indifference

Sir.—The complete indifference displayed by Government in regard to the housing problem calls for the strongest condemnation and the need for some form of concerted action by bona fide citizens of Hong Kong to awaken the Government to their responsibilities.

While thousands of bona fide Hong Kong citizens are living in hovels not fit to house animals, Government is not only busily engaged in pampering the vested interests, but is itself engaged in a lavish building programme for its own benefit.

All damaged Government buildings have been entirely renovated or are in the course of renovation, while in different parts of the Colony, luxurious mansions are being erected to accommodate European civil servants—all at the cost of millions of dollars from public funds.

As reported exclusively in your columns almost a year ago, Government has spent approximately $250,000 of the public's money for the purpose of constructing a motor drive leading up to the palatial skyscrapers at Leighton Hill.

It is obvious that no amount of complaining locally will have any effect on the men at the helm, who are determined to ignore the sufferings of the "hoboes" who are, without fail, forced by Government to serve as cannon fodder in an emergency, it is suggested that a petition be drawn up and submitted to the Rt. Hon. Mr. Creech Jones, who stated when he took up office, that all within the Empire, irrespective of race, colour or creed, would be treated alike.

Students And Trams

Sir.—We have reason to thank the Tramway Company for the resumption of half-fare tickets for school-children between the ages of three and 12. It is premature of us to thank them also for a further concession by considering the re-issue of Student Tickets in the form of half-fare tickets to the tide students of whatever age before the war.

Alternatively, cannot the Company issue a Students' Monthly Ticket? There is nothing unreasonable about this, surely.

EX-DISH WASHER AS TUC PRESIDENT

London, August 24.

A woman of 55, who as an orphan at the age of 12 earned 8/3d a week as a cafe dish-washer, has become the labour boss of all England.

She is Miss Florence Hancock, who takes over the Presidency of the all powerful British Trades Union Congress which opens shortly at Margate. The TUC is Britain's shadow Cabinet since it controls the Socialist Government to a large extent. Thus Miss Hancock becomes the "shadow Premier."

Representing 8,000,000 British workers in mines, factories, shipyards, in transportation and rail, in cotton mills, shoe factories and allied clothing, the Trades Congress will meet under the direction of the newly created woman labour chief of debate all questions affecting British Socialism.

The decision will become directives for the Attlee Government. Born in England's west country, Miss Florence Hancock went out to work as a washer-up in a cafe when her mother and father died. She was earning 8/3d a week. On these, Britain's future No. 1 woman Labourite had to tread.

From the kitchen of the cafe the child Florence went to work in a condensed milk factory. There she began to awake to the social of the suffering, slavery and exploitation of the English poor. She became a union organiser in the factory.

Thirty-one years ago she left the factory for good to take up a regular trade union job. She later became one of the top rankers in the Transport and General Workers' Union and now she is at the pinnacle of her career.

Plans for the Congress to fight for the maintenance of living standards for the workers and for future Socialisation of the nation's industries and social services will also be the principal business of the Congress—United.

Girls Sacrificed Holidays To Teach Poor Children

A story of how a group of more than 20 girls sacrificed part of their summer vacation to teach poor children three hours a day for five weeks was disclosed at an informal ceremony on Tuesday.

With the permission of the education authorities, the girls organised a Bellios Free School for Poor Girls during the summer holidays and held the prize giving ceremony on Tuesday. The girls are members of the Bellios Girls Club.

The prizes were distributed by Miss Scott Moncrieff, of the Hong Kong Social Welfare Council.

The Free School for Poor Girls had a staff of 20 teachers, senior members of the Club. The joint mistresses were Miss Harriet Wu and Miss Helen Chung.

The teachers wrote, printed on duplicating machines, and bound 100 copies of the Chinese reading book and a general knowledge and hygiene book. Pencils and erasers were supplied by the Education Department. The girls of Bellios School contributed through their Welfare Fund a sum of HK$15 to buy exercise books, Chinese ink and brushes, prizes and for a breaking up party.

Teachers of Bellios Public School showed their interest in the school by visiting one day and Miss Yau of the YWCA came several times. Two of the teachers have donated money to provide scholarships for the two girls for one year at the Sun Chung Evening School, Saiying-pun.

The report, read by Miss Harriet Wu said that the Bellios Summer Free School in existence before the war, was re-started this year.

Each girl paid a registration fee of 50 cents to be returned on completing the course. The number of girls increased to 97 at one time. Today it is 80. There are four classes with the same subjects—Chinese literature, arithmetic—Chinese literature, arithmetic.

Would Not Tell On Son

After a fatal accident at Yu Chiao Street at 12.30 p.m. on August 16 Kwai Fui-yu, 39-year-old married woman and licensee of the ferry involved was asked by Traffic Sub-Inspector W. P. Apps for the name of the driver.

She allegedly refused to supply the necessary information and, after the driver had been found, was charged with failing to give information to the police and with allowing the ferry to be driven by an unlicensed driver.

Brought before Mr. J. Wicks at Kowloon on August 18 she was remanded for a week on bail of $200.

On August 21, Trui Kam, the driver and said to be her son, was convicted on six counts of dangerous driving, driving without due care and attention without "Q" plates and a licensed driver on a road other than stated on his learner's licence, and failing to report an accident. He was fined $750 or three months' hard labour, and his licence was endorsed.

When Kwai Fui-yu was brought before Mr. Wicks yesterday, TSI Apps asked permission to withdraw the second count of permitting her ferry to be driven by an unlicensed driver, on the ground that the driver was found to be a learner-driver.

On defendant pleading not guilty to the remaining charge, TSI Apps applied for, and was granted, a further week's remand on the same bail.

Next Time No Option

"This is your sixth conviction. If you come before the court again you will not be given the option of a fine," said Mr. W. A. Blair-Kerr to Lo Kai to Kowloon yesterday.

Lo, summoned for storing 150 gallons of kerosene in excess of that allowed in the licence issued to the Chung King-hong of 502 Shanghai Street, was fined the maximum of $1,000. The kerosene was ordered to be confiscated.

Divisional Officer V. C. Seymour, Kowloon Area Brigade, informed the court that defendant was fined the old maximum of $250 on July 2, October 1, and November 19 (twice) last year, and $25 on April 23, this year.

Harboured Young Girl Allegation

The plea that she gave shelter to Chin-ling Chang, 13, because the girl said she had no relatives or parents was entered by Chan Yee, 46-year-old widow, before Mr. W. A. Blair-Kerr, at Kowloon yesterday.

Chan further said that when the girl first went to her place at 15 Nan Chang Street, ground floor, to look for accommodation, she told the girl that she could not put her up.

The girl then asked for temporary quarters and said that she was looking for work as a housemaid, said defendant.

At the request of Mr. A. C. Tipples, Acting Assistant Social Welfare Officer, the magistrate fixed the morning of September 14 for hearing the charge of harbouring the girl between June 27 and August 23, without the consent of Ngai Sui-tun, against the plea.

Li, in the sum of $100 was allowed.

"The Authority on Authorities"

KING-QUEENS BETTER

IN MOST tables of high card value, an ace is rated as equal in trick-taking power to a king-queen. Actually the king-queen exceeds the ace in that respect, since the combination will frequently take two tricks whereas the ace can never take more than one.

The ace obviously has certain properties which the combination can't possess, such as the immediacy of use as a quick entry and for establishing the value of lower cards. But for sheer trick-taking potentiality, the king-queen is usually worth two when the ace has to play before it.

When the heart 9 was now led, West came in with the ace and scored his club 5, then led to the diamond A to set the contract. Notice this feature—how much closer South came to getting nine tricks with his four K-Q's than he would have with four A's.

BRITISH FAMILIES EVACUATED FROM BURMESE DANGER AREAS

ARMY DESERTERS SURRENDERING

Rangoon, August 24. British women and children have escaped in a house-boat under sail from the Irrawaddy river town of Thayetmyo, now occupied by Burmese Army deserters, and arrived safely at the British oil-fields to the north. The men, who remained behind, were reported to be in no danger and the situation in the town was quiet.

BAN ON MOSLEY'S BOOKS

Berlin, August 24. The British today forbade the import of publications by Sir Oswald Mosley, former British Fascist leader, into the German province of North Rhine-Westphalia. The publications banned are "Deutsche Plutokratie" published by Mosley Publications, Rammerbury, Wiltshire, England, and "Die Alternative" by Sir Oswald. Also prohibited was "Union" published by the Sanctuary Press at Rammerbury.

The announcement described the literature as "undesirable." The order, issued by the Acting Regional Commissioner, Major General W. H. A. Bishop, said "any person who sells, offers for sale or distributes free of charge or has in his possession such publications will be liable to prosecution."—Associated Press.

LAPHAM PRAISES CHINA

Shanghai, August 25. Mr. Roger D. Lapham, Chief of the ECA China Mission, today commended the Chinese Government for instituting new financial measures. He pledged "full co-operation on the part of ECA with the currency reform programme." "The Chinese Government should be praised for these new financial steps it has taken," Mr. Lapham said. "These measures are a genuine effort by China to help herself. As such they deserve our full support, and ECA will do everything in its power to back the new programme and make it operate effectively."—Reuter.

The deserters made an unsuccessful attempt to march on Rangoon, 185 miles to the south, then returned to Thayetmyo.

In Central Burma, Government successes against the insurgents and the surrender of a number of the deserters were reported in tonight's Army communiqué.

Two townlets, which had been in rebel hands for some days, were recaptured by the Government in the Yenang Yang district, West of the Communist-controlled Yamethin area.

Near Rangoon, the Communists attacked the transport depot at Insein, carrying off vehicles, arms and other supplies.

Deserters, said to be "sick and in low spirits," surrendered to Government forces at Toungoon, an overnight halt for the Rangoon-Mandalay mail train, at Mamye Hill, a resort near Mandalay, and at Mingaladon, 12 miles from Rangoon.

Government Strategy.

Military observers believe that the Government's strategy in the present disjointed campaign is:

1.—To clear the Rangoon area;
2.—To recapture the important rail terminus and inland river port of Pyaw, 150 miles North West of Rangoon, which has been in insurgent hands since early August;
3.—To keep open the railway between Rangoon and Mandalay—the last capital of the Burmese kings—to enable it to carry reinforcements to the various fronts and bring food to Rangoon.

The situation is difficult as the Yamethin district, a Communist stronghold, is straddled across the centre of the Rangoon-Mandalay railway.

A usually reliable source reported tonight that disturbances had broken out at Mawachi, a well-known tin and wolfram centre in Karen State, 145 miles North East of Rangoon. British firms with connections there could not confirm this, however.—Reuter.

PALESTINE RUMOURS

JEWS INITIATE PEACE TALKS

New York, August 24. New York Radio reported tonight that the Israeli Foreign Minister, Mr. Moshe Shertok, had announced the start of a peace conference with the Arabs.

Jewish, Syrian and Lebanese officials told Reuter that they had no information about such talks.

New York Radio today quoted Mr. Shertok as saying that the talks were taking place at an undisclosed foreign capital.

According to a copyrighted dispatch from Tel Aviv, the Israeli capital, to the New York Herald Tribune, Israeli and Arab leaders met in recent weeks on neutral ground for preliminary talks on a possible peace settlement.

The meetings were said to be more of an exploratory nature than actual negotiations.

Mr. Shertok told members of the World Zionist Organization in Jerusalem that the talks could not be called negotiations, New York Radio said. They were explanatory discussions seeking a common ground for a later peace conference, he added.

New York Radio said the Israeli Foreign Ministry in Tel Aviv had confirmed that the talks had started.

Nothing concrete had developed, but Israeli leaders were hopeful of future results, the correspondent claimed.

The correspondent said the first official indication of the alleged meetings was given on Sunday night by the Israeli Foreign Minister in a speech before the Action Committee of the World Zionist Organisation in Jerusalem.—Reuter.

YUGOSLAV "SAVAGE TERROR"

Teheran, August 24. The Yugoslav Minister to Iran, Azim Alilhodzic, who left Iran two days ago, declared today that in view of "the atmosphere of savage terror now in Yugoslavia" he and other members of his legation in Teheran "could not return to Yugoslavia."

He continued, "Being patriots and honest Communists, we are requesting the Soviet Government to give us protection."

Alilhodzic arrived in Teheran in 1945 saying he was "Tito's intimate friend."

According to press reports, Alilhodzic called his thanks to Marshal Stalin after the Communist's recent denunciation of the Tito Communists.—Associated Press.

Verona, August 24.
Alfoncina Ghini, who attracted thousands of pilgrims to her native village of Baldon last week after she had declared her own death during the night of August 15, is still alive today.

The 28-year-old Alfoncina has been in a state of semi-coma since the night of August 15—the feast of the Assumption—while her closest relatives, doctors, and the Baldon priest have been waiting for a 24-hour "death certificate" to be issued.

She has shown no positive signs of improvement nor of coming out of her coma.

The statement was in answer to when and how she had to suffer much pain," and she said she could feel again.

IMPORTANT MEETING AT KREMLIN

Stalin's Intervention Changes The Picture "Waiting Period" Expected For Several Days

Moscow, August 24.

The Western envoys' long talk with Marshal Stalin last night was believed here today to have completely changed the picture in the great powers' negotiations over Germany.

It was thought that the Western Governments would take several days to consider Marshal Stalin's communication and co-ordinate a reply which will form the basis of the next approach.

When it is fully ready and has been discussed by the envoys here, they may be expected to ask for another appointment with the Soviet Foreign Minister, M. Vyacheslav Molotov, or with Marshal Stalin.

The next day or two will therefore be a waiting period here, it is thought.

The Western representatives were understood to be extremely satisfied with the nature of the communication. Marshal Stalin made to them his nature was not disclosed, but it will certainly need the highest level attention by the Western Governments.

All reports relating to last night's talks should be treated with some reserve for the present. The Western representatives are still being maintained. Observers think that the Western envoys, instructed by their Governments, had been told clearly the final position of the Western powers, beyond which it is believed they would not budge.

But Marshal Stalin's intervention, aimed at smoothing over some of the differences which had arisen, was of such an important nature that the envoys had to communicate immediately with their capitals, with the result that negotiations and diplomatic exchanges continue.

Desire For Peace

Marshal Stalin is believed to have stressed Russia's desire for a peaceful regulation of the differences between the Soviet and the Western powers regarding Berlin and Germany as a whole.

This would be in line with the proclaimed Soviet foreign policy and all the published utterances of Marshal Stalin, especially his famous letter to Mr. Henry Wallace and his wartime statements that there is no reason why two different systems—capitalist and socialist—cannot peacefully exist together.

Observers considered significant the publication in the Soviet journal, New Times, tonight of an article by the woman journalist, Natalia-Sergeyeva (a specialist in foreign affairs) reviewing the book by Edgar Snow—"Stalin Must Have Peace."

Taking Snow to task for the suggestion that lack of mutual understanding between the Russians and the Americans was understandable and natural, owing to their different psychology and different approach to many matters, Sergeyeva declared that the late President Roosevelt "found a common tongue with the leaders of Soviet policy."

Seven-Day Gap

Western observers in Moscow were tonight hoping that Marshal Stalin last night spoke a language understood by the West and vice versa. There was no indication to the contrary.

One More Meeting?

Neither Mr. Frank Roberts, Britain's special envoy, nor M. Yves Chateaugay, the French Ambassador, had so far commented on last night's talk, but the United States Ambassador, General Walter Bedell Smith, said that he thought there would be another meeting and added: "I think we have made a little progress. We usually do."

Whether there would be another one or more Kremlin talks nobody here was prepared to say today. It was learned on good authority that the envoys themselves expected last night's meeting to be the final one.

General Bedell Smith's comment last night implied that he thought the Western Governments would "have to answer" Marshal Stalin's communication, in which case at least one more meeting must take place in the Kremlin, he added.

Washington Gets More Optimistic

Washington, August 24.

The State Department confirmed today that the four power talks in Moscow on Germany "will continue."

Mr. Michael McDermott, the State Department spokesman, said that a full account of last night's session at the Kremlin had been received, and added: "No date has been set for another meeting so far." He would give no further comment.

Both the press and official reaction to the Kremlin talks took a sharp swing towards optimism here today. This was a result of reports from official sources in London that Generalissimo Stalin, at last night's five-hour conference with the Western envoys, had introduced "certain new ideas."

These were said to have cleared the way for the continuance of the talks, which some had expected to end abruptly by this week. Officials declined to say what the "new ideas" might be, but they emphasized that the fundamental question was the unequivocal recognition by Soviet Russia of the rights of the Western powers to be in Berlin as joint administrators of that international area and the implied principles:

1. That the Western Allies have the right to use the roads and highways into Berlin.

2. That the four powers should control any currency selected by them as the currency of Berlin.

Familiar Pattern

Diplomatic sources here expected that new instructions would be sent to the representatives of the three Western powers in Moscow and that they would then discuss a detailed interpretation of these proposals with the Soviet Foreign Minister, M. Molotov.

This would then be followed by another conference with Marshal Stalin to clear up any differences between M. Molotov and the three envoys over the interpretation of Marshal Stalin's proposals.

These diplomatic sources said that was the familiar pattern of negotiation with Soviet leaders, but there were now two important differences.

Firstly, the Western diplomats were now familiar with the Soviet technique and were presumably ready to adapt themselves to it to negotiate a settlement of the Berlin situation.

Secondly, the success of the airlift operations circumventing the Russian blockade of Western Berlin gave the Western Allies time to negotiate on these lines without the Russians forcing them to reach an agreement within a specified period.—Reuter.

Stars And Stripes

Washington, August 24. Marshall Plan goods shipped to Europe are to carry a label with the Stars and Stripes, the Economic Cooperation Administration announced today.

The labels were designed to emphasize that recovery goods are being supplied by the United States.—Reuter.

BANK "TOOL OF AMERICA"

Geneva, August 24.

Charges of political discrimination by the United Nations International Bank and Monetary Fund were levelled by Eastern European delegates to the Economic and Social Council during a four-day debate, which ended today.

The Russian delegate, M. Alexander Morozov, declared in the Council's Economic Committee that the Bank and Fund were becoming "merely the tools of American foreign policy."

The report of the Monetary Fund, he said, showed that nearly 94 per cent of the total assistance given by the Fund had gone to Marshall Plan countries.

The Committee rejected a Polish draft resolution proposing that "investment goods and credits should be allocated by the Bank according to the criterion of their greatest activity."

A Canadian resolution, amended by China, was adopted. This expressed the hope that the Bank would take immediate measures to hasten the examination of reconstruction problems and to facilitate loans, particularly for economically undeveloped countries.—Reuter.

BULL RING COLLAPSES

Madrid, August 24.

Two spectators were killed and 400 injured, some seriously, when part of a wooden bull ring collapsed at the village of Pinedo, near Valencia.—Reuter.

KASHMIR FIGHTING CLAIMS

New Delhi, August 24.

A Government of India military spokesman said today that after ten months of war in Kashmir the raiders were still "just as far from their objective," the state capital of Srinagar.

The raiders were now near Chardih, 80 miles west of the capital, he said.

The spokesman, outlining the present military situation in Kashmir, said that the raiders held districts and the Muzaffarabad district in Kashmir Province, the Poonch Jager and the districts of Shimla, Mirpur, Paland and Bagh.

The total raiders-held area covered hardly one-sixth of the provinces of Jammu and Kashmir, he added.—Reuter.

TUC TURNS DOWN JOINT BOARDS

London, August 24.

Trade union chiefs have rejected the suggestion that Britain's nationalised industries should be controlled by joint boards represented equally by trade unions and managements.

The main reason—a fear that their independence would be in danger—is explained in the annual report of the Trade Unions Congress. General Council issued today.

The report will come before the 800 delegates, representing nearly 8,000,000 workers, who will attend this year's Congress opening at the seaside resort of Margate on September 6.

The joint boards proposal came up in a debate at last year's Congress and since then had been investigated by the Economic Committee of the General Council.

The Committee's report expressed the view that joint administrative boards would destroy the independence of the unions at present have from the Executive Authority of the nationalised industries.

The unions would be compromised in their relationships with both the public boards and their own members.

"Trade unionists elected or appointed to serve on a public board, but still having ultimate responsibility to the union, would be in an embarrassing position, unsatisfactory to themselves, to the board, and to the work people concerned," the Committee stated.—Reuter.

AIR COLLISION

Middletown, Pa., August 24.

At least seven were killed when a United States Army C-47 Dakota transport plane crashed today five miles north of Newton, New Jersey.

An Air Force officer said that the plane collided in the air with a B-25 Mitchell. Only the wing tip of the B-25 was damaged and it returned to its base.

Nine persons were in the Dakota, going to a religious meeting in West Reading, Connecticut, the officer said. Seven of these were known to be dead.—Reuter.

Colonial Materials For US

London August 24.

British contributions to a strategic materials stock pile being built up in the United States will come almost entirely from the colonies.

This was stated today by a spokesman of the American Mission to the Economic Cooperation Administration (ECA).

The Mission members, headed by Mr. Evan Just, Director of the Strategic Materials Division of ECA, had further discussions today with the Board of Trade, Ministry of Supply and the Colonial Office.

It was explained that the primary purpose is not to "buy" some materials that might be lying about in a British warehouse but to provide long term access to such materials as rubber, manganese, tin and various fibres.

Members of the Mission expected to go to The Hague at the end of the week.—Associated Press.

ENGINEERING PAGE RADIO TELEPHONE INTERESTS HONG KONG COMPANIES

The potentials of Radio Telephone, as discussed on this page last week, have been the subject of keen discussion among Hong Kong transport companies. It is less than two years since Bus Lines Radio Licence No. 1 was issued in England for the installation of Pye Radio Telephones, but in that time, not only has that company alone installed Radio Telephones for more than forty taxi and car-line firms, but the commercial use of Pye Radio Telephones has been spread to Tugs, racing cars, Police, Ambulance and many other commercial and Government concerns.

The 22,424 ton "Monarch of Bermuda", under tow by 3 tugs from Helburn Quay to the Fifth of North, recently escaped extreme danger through the use of Radio telephone which had, fortunately, been installed in all four vessels. In terrible towing weather, two of the three towing lines broke and the "Monarch of Bermuda" faced gale-force winds and the danger of going ashore. Only by using Pye Radio could the tugs have made fast to the liner again in such seas.

Trial Order

With the advent of radio controlled taxis, it was not long before the Home Office became interested, and a trial order came from Edinburgh for a single installation in a police patrol car. So successful was the test, that now over 500 units have been installed in vehicles for police, fire and ambulance brigades up and down the country.

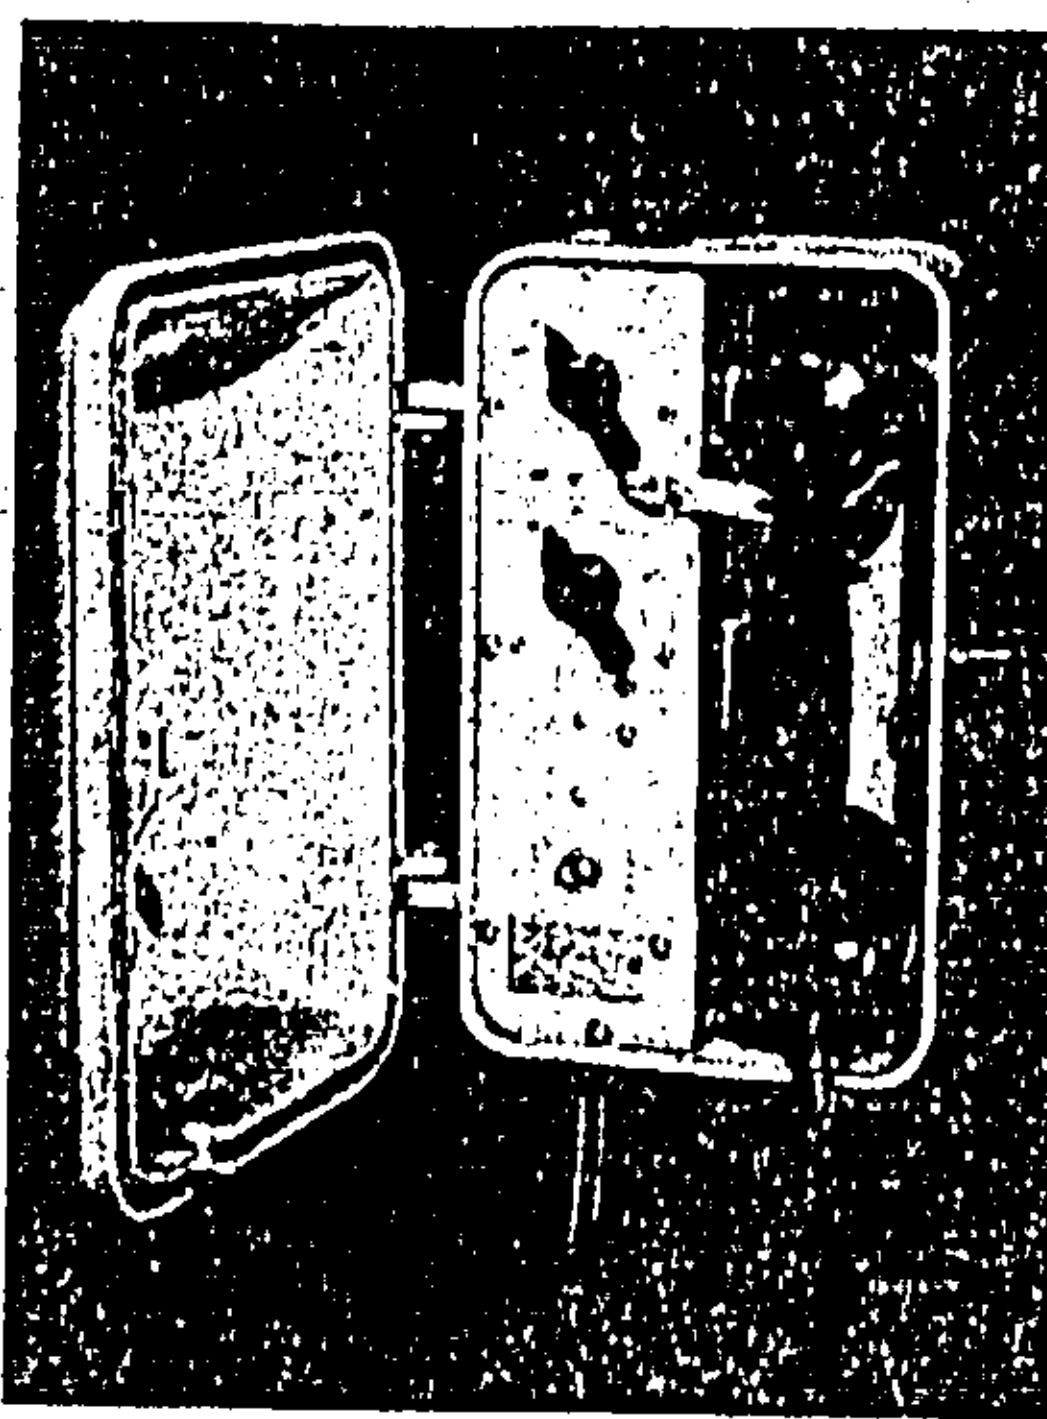

Experiments have been carried out to test Pye units in the intricate task of marshalling railway wagons at March in Cambridgeshire. These tests have also been confirmed as successful, and it is hoped that in the very near future Pye equipment will be in use in all the marshalling yards of the British Railways.

The Evening Standard and Daily Express newspapers installed radio-telephone in their reporters' cars to enable them to get their news to Fleet Street in the shortest possible time. With the aid of the Mithrasis a severe one, but the equipment, without it one hundred per cent. Messrs. Pye are looking forward to a much more gruelling test at Splan, Belgium

Track Test

The compactness of the equipment attracted the interest of the motor racing fraternity, and the H.K.G. team (car designed by H. R. Godfrey) competing in the Isle of Man installed this equipment continuous contact with the pits throughout the race. The test of working under racing condition

Messrs. Cantax Ltd's taxis was involved in a collision and completely wrecked. The Radio Telephone was in full working order, and could have been used to call for immediate assistance from headquarter had it been necessary.

Messrs. Scaffolding (Great Britain) Ltd. find it necessary to move large quantities of their equipment from site to site with the minimum delay. Radio telephone has been fitted to their Supervisors' cars. Though constantly on the move, they are able to communicate the latest position of their work to their Headquarters who in turn direct the movement of labour and material. Thus the Radio-Telephone makes its debut in the Building Trade.

The list of users of Pye Radio telephone in the United Kingdom is reaching impressive proportions. Equipment has been installed for no fewer than 32 city police forces totalling over 500 mobile units. Over 60 units have been installed in tugs by various firms in the largest ports in Great Britain and the number of taxi firms and other business concerns fitting the equipment is growing day by day.

There seems no doubt that Hong Kong will shortly become "Radio Telephony Conscious" just as England already is.

WELDING PROBLEMS

Welding is now so widely used in the engineering and metal construction industries that some may ask why research is necessary, but many will have had experience of the difficulties and failures they have not explained except by supposition. Further, the extended application of welding naturally involves problems in some specialised fields and research is necessary for their solution. The greatest international conference of a technical kind ever held in this country was convened by 17 of the leading British scientific and technical institutions in 1935 to which 150 Papers on the welding of iron and steel were contributed from 35 countries. The Conference concluded with general resolutions unanimously adopted which outlined the principles of a research programme. It is this programme and its development under the Welding Research Council of the Institute of Welding for which the British Welding Research Association has now become responsible.

The greatest international conference of a technical kind ever held in this country was convened by 17 of the leading British scientific and technical institutions in 1935 to which 150 Papers on the welding of iron and steel were contributed from 35 countries. The Conference concluded with general resolutions unanimously adopted which outlined the principles of a research programme. It is this programme and its development under the Welding Research Council of the Institute of Welding for which the British Welding Research Association has now become responsible.

Broad Aspects

There are two broad aspects of the welding problem. The first lies in the material to be joined, the method of making the joint and the effect of the method on the physical and mechanical properties of the material and consequently on the strength of the product. The second lies in the fact that a weld provides a rigid joint as distinct from the comparatively flexible joints of a riveted or bolted construction. This rigidity affects the working properties of the resultant structure or component and calls for a new approach in design.

The first aspect involves many of the fundamental problems of metallurgy. But it is not the function of a welding research association to carry out extensive researches of this character, hence the Association maintains a staff of both metallurgical and welding experts to advise on the welding of both iron and steel and on the welding of non-ferrous metals.

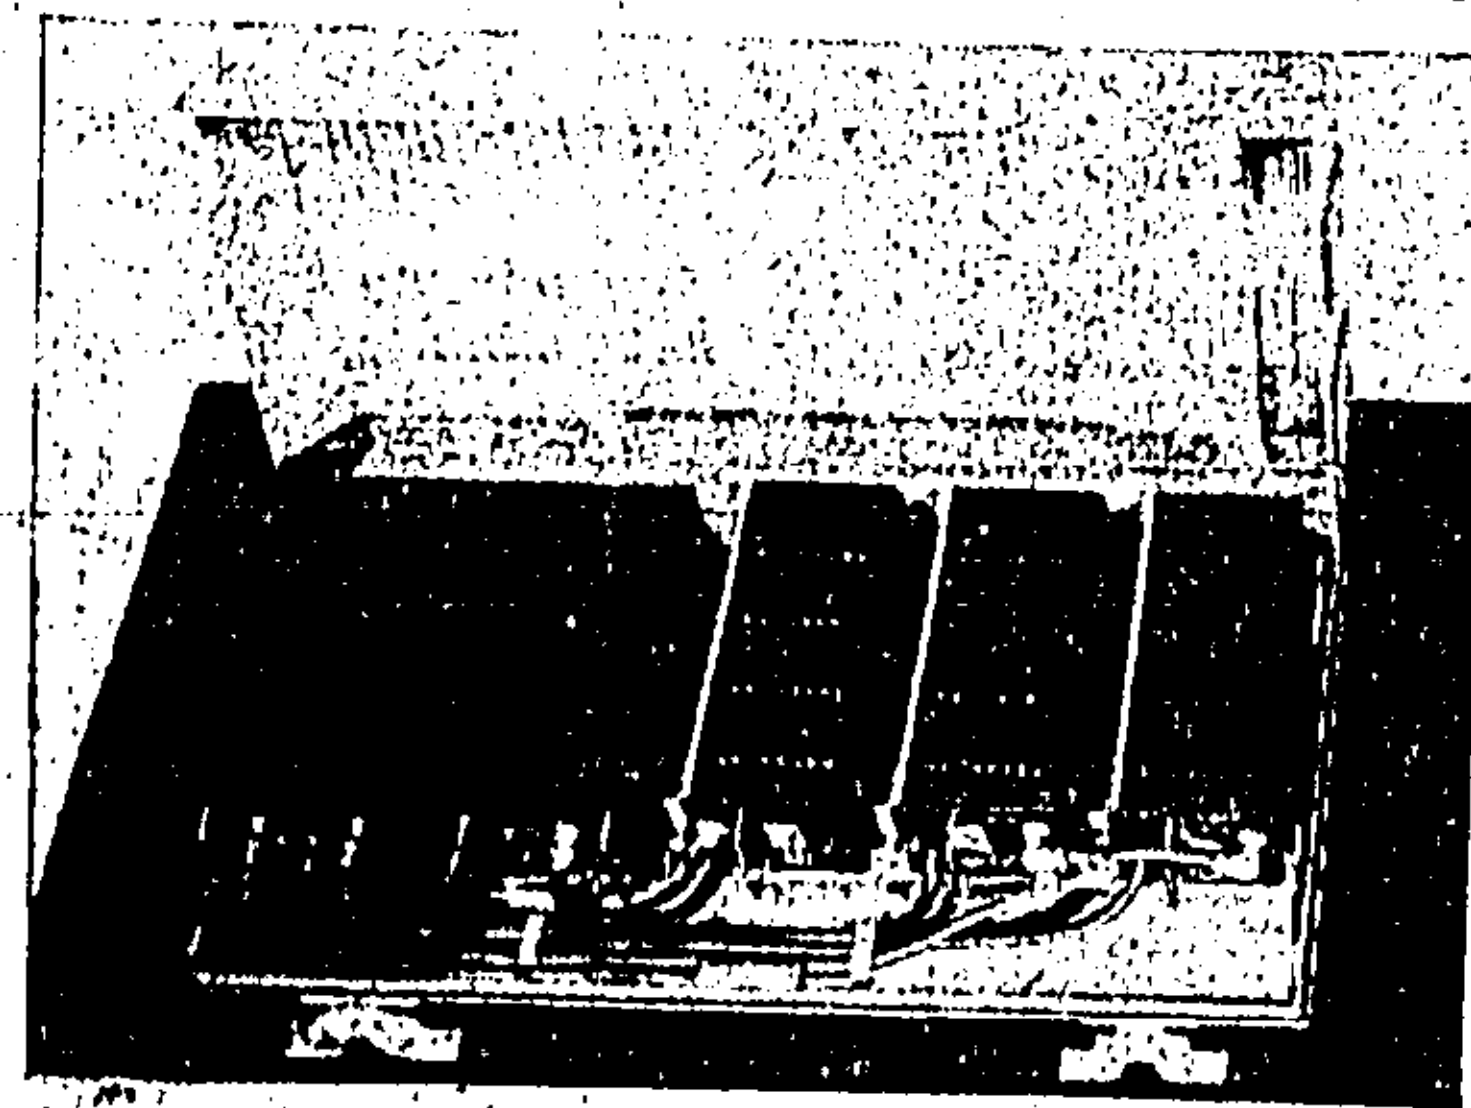

Metallurgical Problems

The establishment of a welding procedure for various metals and alloys which will give consistently satisfactory results in practice is one of the first objectives. It is characteristic of many metals and alloys that physical changes occur when they are heated for welding, and such changes often introduce difficulties in producing a satisfactory joint. To establish suitable procedures lengthy investigations as to how to control or reduce the adverse effect of these physical changes are necessary.

In the welding of some alloy steels characteristic hardened zones in which cracks may occur are formed, and if these higher-strength materials are to be readily welded, close attention must be given both to their relative position in the structure and to the welding procedure. Furthermore, when very thick sections are to be joined even in plain carbon steel, failure in the weld metal may occur at high temperatures. Part of the work at Park Crescent is aimed at eliminating failures of this kind and at producing joints of high tensile strength which may be readily welded.

Engineering Problems

A study of the new factors introduced by welding into the design of structures entails extensive research on the behaviour of welded constructions of all types under varied conditions of static, dynamic and fluctuating loads.

British Refrigerators

A telling example of the enterprise and energy with which the smaller firms in Britain are contributing to the nation's record breaking export drive is given in a report issued by a Sussex (South England) engineering company.

This firm, starting from almost nothing, has within five months created the biggest single industrial unit in South-West Sussex, and this is now exporting refrigerators to all parts of the world. Canada and the U.S.A. are almost the only two countries in which its models will not be found; there is even one in Moscow.

Before starting their export drive the five directors of the firm conducted an intensive personal research into foreign requirements, travelling by air to different overseas markets. This preliminary research has proved highly successful for today the company is finding a ready market overseas for approximately two-thirds of its weekly output of around 200 refrigerators.

CARBON BLACK

A £1000,000 factory for the manufacture of carbon black (used in tyre making) is to be built at Bristol, England. The British is at present spending at a rate of £150,000,000 yearly on imports of carbon black from the U.S.A. so that the new scheme will prove a useful dollar saving measure. The manufacturers (the Parlatine Development Company) have obtained from the U.S.A. Phillips Petroleum Company rights to produce two types of carbon black for Britain.

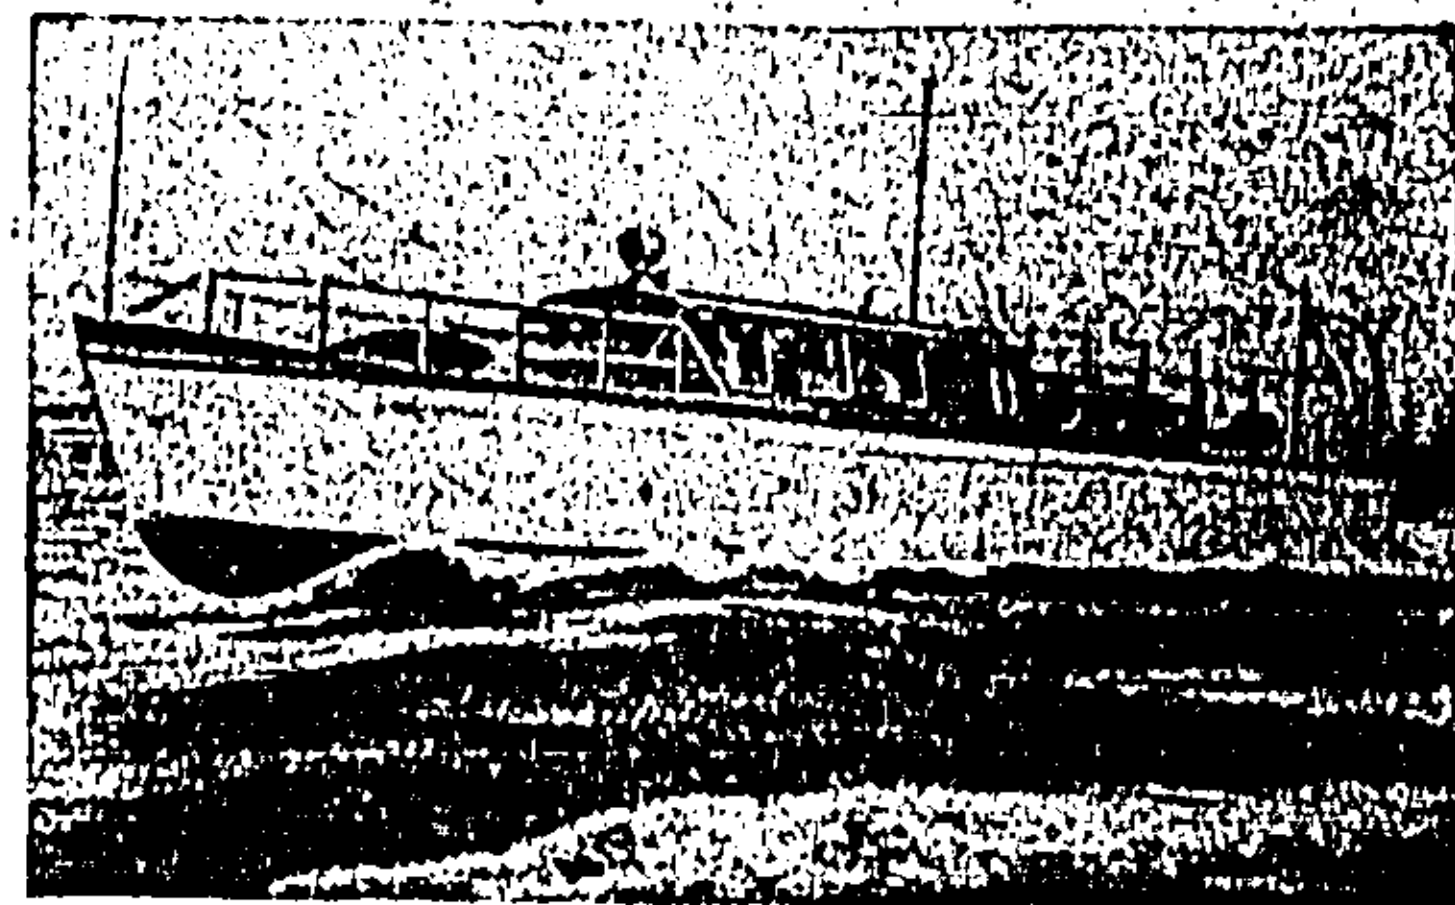

All British Fortnight In Copenhagen

The people of Scandinavia will have an unprecedented opportunity of appraising progress made by Britain's postwar industries when the All-British exhibition opens in Copenhagen next month. It will be the largest and most comprehensive display of British goods ever held in Scandinavia and besides the main exhibition buildings in the centre of the capital, the Tivoli Gardens, the Royal Riding House and other premises will also be used to house the products of close on 1,000 firms.

Machinery, chemicals and building materials will be housed in the large exhibition building, and household goods, office equipment, foodstuffs and sea and air transport in the Tivoli Gardens. In the Royal Riding House, transport equipment will be displayed while a wide range of leather and fancy goods, together with Britain's most modern scientific instruments will be seen in another building. Textiles and fashions to be displayed in the Royal Riding House. One of Copenhagen's largest department stores will include many of Britain's latest and newest fashions. One range of fabrics certain to command considerable attention will be new lightweight suitings of manufacture. There will also be a wide range of goods from a gossamer crepe weighing less than seven ounces per yard to a crepe of wool and featherweight lambs.

MAORIS TO PUT ON SHOWS FOR ROYAL VISIT TO NZ

ITINERARY FOR TOUR REVEALED

London, August 24.

King George, Queen Elizabeth and Princess Margaret will tour New Zealand chiefly by plane and motor car next March, visiting all parts of the Dominion, which is preparing an elaborate welcome.

A provisional outline of the itinerary for the visit—the first part of a general Royal tour of Australia—was announced by Buckingham Palace today.

It discloses a crowded month highlighted by rounds of official dinners, receptions, garden parties and sight-seeing.

Their Majesties and Princess Margaret will leave Britain from Devonport, adjoining Plymouth, on January 27 in the battleship Vanguard, which bore the Royal party to South Africa early last year.

Voyaging by way of the Panama Canal, the Vanguard will arrive at Colon on Feb. 9 and will leave Balboa the next day. By the King's decision there will be no disembarkation of royalty at either place. The Palace view is that the Royal party should not set foot on shore until the Vanguard docks at Wellington on Feb. 28.

Any other course, it is felt, would portend of discourtesy to New Zealand.

King's Flight

The farewell ceremony in New Zealand will be held at Waitangi on March 31. The Vanguard will then sail for Sydney and many weeks of touring in Australia.

Because the varying gauges of railways "Down Under" are considered unsuitable for much Royal train travel, the main transport will be aircraft—the King's flight of Vikings will be used as it was in South Africa—and motorcars. "Trains" will be employed at certain stages, however.

Of the features of the New Zealand visit, Buckingham Palace has been advised, will be huge Maori displays in at least five towns.

On the return trip from Australia, the Vanguard probably will cruise around the Cape of Good Hope and a brief Capetown visit is thought likely.

Romance Rumours

The Palace announcement making clear that Princess Margaret will accompany her parents' scotched rumours that for personal reasons she might remain at home.

Those personal reasons were thought to be her supposed romantic inclination towards the young Marquis of Blandford, heir to the Dukedom of Marlborough and cousin of Winston Churchill.

The Marquis, recently Guards officer, has been helping Princess Margaret celebrate her 18th birthday at Balmoral; Royal residence in Scotland. He has been her escort on many recent occasions. He is a favourite of the Royal Family—and of Princess Margaret, especially if all signs and some admissions are to be believed.

Rumour had it that the Marquis was about to propose—and that Princess Margaret would not refuse him. The Palace, as always, held aloof from the gossiping. Sound guidance from the right places, however, emphasised that the King and Queen had no wish to see their younger, witty, fun-loving daughter engaged "when she is little more than a child."—Associated Press.

REDS IN UNIONS

Brisbane, August 24. The Queensland central executive of the Labour Party has decided to organise industrial groups to smash Communist influence among the unions.

The decision came after the disturbing election of the Communist, Mr. G. M. Dawson, as president of the local trades and labour council.—United Press.

The last Royal tour was last year, when the King and Queen, accompanied by the two Princesses, visited South Africa. Here the Royal Family are shown being welcomed outside the Guildhall, Portsmouth, after disembarking from HMS Vanguard.

WILD CHARGES OF US SPYING

New York, August 24.

The Scripps-Howard newspapers today reported that Russian propaganda sources have found a reply to stories of Communist spying in the United States.

Major Battle In Tonkin

Salgon, August 24.

Fighting between French troops and Viet Minh guerrillas has increased to the pitch of a full-scale war in certain districts of north Indo-China during the past few days.

Viet Minh forces were tonight reported to control all except the large towns in Tonkin Province.

Some French Army posts are reported to have been overwhelmed and the Hanoi-Haiphong railway has been frequently cut by saboteurs.

French troops have been launching vigorous counter-attacks.—Reuter.

ITALY'S FORMER COLONIES

London, August 24.

The report on the future of Italy's former colonies by the Special Deputies of the Big Four Foreign Ministers will be submitted to the Governments concerned at the end of this week.

The deputies, it is understood, have not agreed on the future of the three territories concerned, Libya, Eritrea and former Italian Somaliland.—Reuter.

The United States is accused of directing an "international spy ring" composed of former spies for Germany and Japan, Soviet expatriates and displaced persons.

The Scripps-Howard writer, James Daniel, reported that the Americans named as leaders include the former Congresswoman, Claire Boothe Luce, Congressman Karl Mundt and John Foster Dulles.

Daniel said, "Wild charges were made on Moscow Radio in the form of lengthy quotations from an article in the official press." This is the usual means of laying down a new Soviet line, according to State Department sources.

International news embarrassing to Russia is ignored for days or weeks. Then suddenly a rebuttal appears in some publication and is broadcast by Moscow Radio.

Daniel quoted Radio Moscow regarding Mrs. Oksana Kosenkina as saying, "The political specialty of this lady is concern for displaced persons or rather for those international spies who are imported into the United States under this brand."

Naming five committees as aiding displaced persons, Moscow Radio said, "These notorious organisations used to be employed by Hitlerite and Japanese agents."—United Press.

DISSIDENTS PLANNING NORTH CHINA REGIME

Washington, August 24.

Official Chinese sources said today that General Feng Yu-shiang and Marshal Li Chai-sum plan to set up a regime in North China with the help of the Chinese Communists.

They predicted, however, that such a government with two generals with a warlord background would not be successful.

The sources said it is difficult to understand how the Chinese Communists could profit from such an arrangement if they are actually contemplating it. They said that Feng and Li have "few followers other than their secretaries."

They added, "When the Japanese set up Henry Pu-yi as the Manchurian Emperor and puppet ruler of Manchuria there was at least of legality and ostensible independence because Pu-yi was of Manchu Royalty."

But Feng was born in Central China near Shanghai and Li is a native of Kwangsi. Both have a warlord background which the Communists claim to dislike. Some people assume that since Feng and Li are old-line Communists they would attract "fuzzy liberals." But for Feng to play at being liberal is about like the Russian Czar trying to imitate Mr. Henry A. Wallace.

Manifesto Expected

As for the reported possibility of a new revolution in China when Feng returns, the sources said, "There may be a manifesto or something similar issued by Feng's group but we doubt that there will be any serious trouble as a result of it."

They said the manifesto, if issued, would probably charge the Kuomintang with failure to live up to the principles of Dr. Sun Yat-sen.

The sources said, "That was the usual pattern in the old days when they used to accuse us of following Sun Yat-sen's principles and that was objectionable to them. Now they think it sounds good to say we are not following Sun's programme. There is no reason to believe that it would be any better under their guidance."—United Press.

DE GAULLE BOGEY

Paris, August 24.

The French National Assembly tonight began an important debate on a suggestion to postpone the departmental municipal elections due in October.

Behind the proposal, which is expected to have the support of the main parties, is fear that General Charles de Gaulle's Italy of the French People might defeat all opposition at the elections, precipitating a showdown with the other parties.

The elections are for the renewal of half the members of the 90 Departmental Councils which have a mainly administrative role under the general guidance of the Departmental Prefect.

The last time they were held was in the spring of 1945, soon after the liberation.—Reuter.

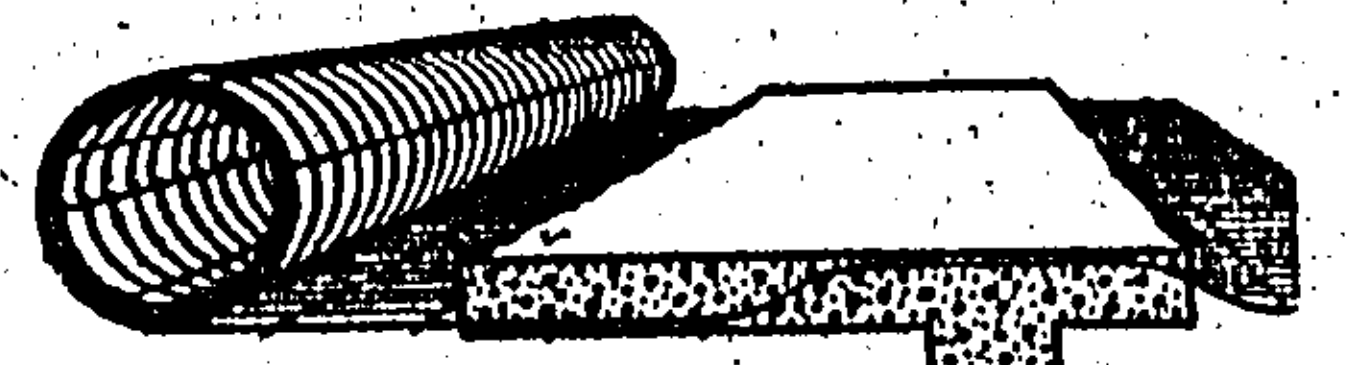

New Delhi, August 24.

Welding Problems

A major investigation to determine the true load-carrying capacity of the members in rigid frameworks has been carried out by Professor J. T. Baker at Bristol University, and later at the University of Cambridge, for the past nine years. This work is largely financed by the British Welding Research Association since welded frames are rigid. It is hoped to devise from this investigation a method of design which will take advantage of the plastic properties as well as the elastic strength of steel. Preliminary work has indicated that welded rectangular portal frames designed on this plastic theory may safely be 30% lighter than frames designed for the same conditions by conventional methods based on elasticity. When the theory can be developed to cover all forms of construction it should then be possible to take full advantage of the specific properties of welded joints and structures.

BRITAIN TO SLOW DOWN RATE OF DEMOBILISATION THREE SERVICES BELOW STRENGTH

London, August 24.

The British Cabinet today is reviewing its demobilisation policy. It was reliably learned that demobilisation would be slowed.

Difficulties encountered in recruiting for the new Territorial Army, the tense European political situation and the unexpected drains caused by developments in Malaya are among the main causes.

Mr. Ernest Bevin, the Foreign Minister, who is taking part in the defence talks, announced before Parliament rose last month that releases might have to be slowed in view of the international situation. Present releases from the Army are at the rate of 20,000 per month.

Since then, service chiefs and political quarters have been warning that the Army and Air Force are far below strength. The regular Army was said to have only one-third of the necessary strength and Lord Montgomery (Chief of the Imperial General Staff) last week predicted that Britain could not expect to have a national Army before 1951.

According to the latest Government White Paper on defence earlier this year, it was provided that the total strength of the armed forces should fall from 940,000 at the end of March this year to 716,000 by March next year. The Army was to have been reduced from 543,000 to 445,000, the Navy to remain at 145,000 and the Air Force reduced from 251,000 to 226,000.

Naval Research

Meanwhile, strong attention is being focused on intensified research and development in the fields of the Navy and Air Force.

British naval attaches from all over the world were reported to have been attending a two-week conference at the Admiralty to discuss and study future chief objectives. They were understood to have decided to concentrate on research in anti-submarine warfare and development of medium carriers as bases for jet fighter planes.

British reports said destroyers may be rebuilt on revolutionary lines for escort purposes. They also quoted indications as saying that jet fighters would eventually supersede land-based fighters, because of the vulnerability of runways ashore.

The latest naval jet-propelled fighter, a "Fairey" intended as a carrier-borne plane, is officially reported to be powered by a single Rolls-Royce Nene jet engine with a speed exceeding 600 miles per hour. Another new type of jet fighter, the "Gloster," is undergoing tests.

New Jet Bomber

Official sources also stated that the re-equipping of the Air Force's fighter command interceptor squadrons with the latest jet types had been completed. High speed bombers continue to constitute one of the most urgent needs at present.

Re-equipping of the bomber force with jet bombers had to be postponed until the new types have been fully tested and the present bomber force of Lancasters is considered out of date.

Experts predicted the appearance of an unspecified date of what they termed a jet bomber of exceptional performance. British reports also indicated intentions to work in progress by scientists at a secluded experimental station for the development of guided high altitude rocket projectiles.—United Press.

Fastest Jet Fighter

Langley, Buckingham, August 24.

Britain's latest jet fighter, the Hawker N7/46, had its first public test at Langley at well over 600 miles per hour.

Details of the speed and range of the aircraft are still secret. It is believed that it can fly faster and farther than any comparable jet aircraft. It is designed primarily as a carrier-borne fighter and has folding wings.—Reuter.

P.I.-JAPAN TRADE ON INCREASE

Manila, August 25.

The volume of trade between Japan and the Philippines in the last seven months totalled 23,000,000 pesos.

If the present rate of trade continues the total may reach 50,000,000 pesos by the end of the year, which would be 27,000,000 more than in 1941.

A Government agency—the Philippine Relief and Trade Rehabilitation Administration—is reported to have received 3,200 tons of galvanized iron sheets from Japan worth more than 2,000,000 pesos, for local distribution, and another large shipment of the same product is due shortly. The coming shipment is said to be worth close to 2,000,000 pesos.—United Press.

TRADE PREFERENCES

AMERICA OPPOSED IN PRINCIPLE

Geneva, August 24.

The United States is still strongly opposed in principle to all trade preferences, Mr. John Ledy, a United States delegate to the 22-nation Trade and Tariffs Conference, said here tonight.

Mr. Ledy was referring to the United States request, formally presented to the conference yesterday, that she be permitted to introduce preferences for some of her Pacific trust territories, formerly mandated to Japan.

The request, he said, was aimed at helping the population and covers an "entirely insignificant amount of trade." The island chiefly concerned were the Marianas. "The intended preferences would be one-way and would not give us any trading advantages in the islands," Mr. Ledy said.

American is asking permission of the 21 other nations applying the general agreement on tariffs and trade to accord the exports of these islands duty-free entry into the United States as well as to include them in preferences which the United States already grants to the Philippines.

"The trade of those islands is so small that to grant them these preferences would damage no other country and the preferences would greatly help the population," Mr. Ledy said.

"The two commodities chiefly exported are copra and coconut oil. We hope that the Tariffs Conference will allow us to import both these commodities duty-free and also to apply to their coconut oil the preferential taxes on processing granted to the Philippines."

Mr. Ledy added that American was also seeking the authority of the conference to include these islands eventually into a Customs Union with some other United States territories.—Reuter.

Argentine Meat

Buenos Aires, August 25.

Argentine meat shipments to England will drop to the lowest of the year in September when only 10,000 tons are booked for export.

Factors attribute the drop to the normal slackness in September due to the non-availability of steers, and to the reluctance of producers to sell cattle until the Government pays the promised higher prices for them. Some sources said that Argentina has reached the conclusion that she had better not "put all her eggs in one basket" and seek other markets where she can get better prices than those from Britain.—Associated Press.

B-29's To Stay In Britain

Washington, August 24.

It was learned tonight that plans are being made for building a special depot in England for major overhaul of the American B-29 Superfortress bombers now stationed there.

It was believed in best-informed quarters that as long as the "cold war" continues, the Superfortresses are in England to stay. The B-29's began arriving at East Anglian bases last month on a "training programme."

A United States Air Force Headquarters insisted today that this is still their role although an Air Force spokesman conceded that the "training programme" will almost certainly continue throughout the winter.

But best informed sources in Washington said they represented the spreadhead of America's most effective weapon of counter-attack.

It is significant that England has now taken the place of Germany as the centre of the "training programme" for United States Air Force bombers in Europe.—Reuter.

CHINESE TRADE WITH P.I.

Manila, August 25.

Mr. Nick Osmena, son of ex-President Sergio Osmena, who has returned from a visit to Shanghai, said today that the Chinese currency reform would have a stimulating effect on Sino-Philippine trade.

However, he said, the effect would not be felt immediately in view of the limited volume of trade between the two countries.

Mr. Osmena has the impression that Chinese businessmen are reluctant to invest in the Philippines due to the belief that there is anti-Chinese feeling here. He said he told them the Philippines were not anti-Chinese and were willing to attract Chinese who would establish business, of a permanent nature and contribute to Philippine rehabilitation.

He also said there was a big market for Philippine hemp in China, but the demand was held down by Nanking policy limiting imports and encouraging native industries to supply the country's needs.—United Press.

SECRET QUESTIONING

Washington, August 24.

House investigators today questioned ex-Communist Louis Budenz in secret, in an effort to find out which of the two key witnesses in their search for Reds in the Government is telling lies.

The sub-committee chairman, Richard M. Nixon, said that Budenz was called to testify in a secret session on what he knows, if anything, about the House group's investigation. He declined to say what information Budenz is presumed to have.

Budenz, former editor of the Communist newspaper Daily Worker, left a few years ago to return to the Catholic Church.

The two witnesses who gave contradictory evidence are Alger Hiss, ex-State Department official and Whitaker Chambers, former Communist who is now senior editor of Time Magazine.—United Press.

LIRA WILL STAND

Rome, August 25.

Italy is not to devalue the lira, the Treasury Department stated today.

It denied recent unsubstantiated rumours that devaluation was under consideration. Official financial circles added that the Government's intention was always to maintain the stability of the lira.—Reuter.

INDIRECT AID FOR GOLD YUAN FROM ECA FUNDS POSSIBILITY

London Stock Exchange

London, August 24. Hopes of a favourable turn in the international situation continued to be the main influence in the London Stock Exchange today.

The Moscow talks are the subject of all Stock Exchange conversations and although the opinion as to the probable outcome is divided, some of the optimists were quietly buying industrial shares today. Rises of a few pence resulted.

It was a very quiet session for Government stocks. Prices remained unchanged for the greater part of the day but finally managed to record an occasional fractional advance.

There were one or two gains in the oil market which, apart from slight activity, remained very idle.

Yesterday's rise in Uruguayan rails was well maintained and interest spread to other foreign utilities. Anglo-Argentine trans moved higher.

Early advances from Johannesburg imparted firmness to Kaifris. Improvements, however, were small and were mostly securities.

Sterling Bonds —Reuter.

Washington, August 24. Informed sources said today that ECA aid could be used indirectly to help prop up China's new gold yuan currency.

But both the United States and international lending agencies denied knowledge of any move on the part of the Nationalist Government to get direct backing for the new currency.

Despite similar denials by Nanking, such rumours continue to reach the United States. The fact is that since the International Monetary Fund has not officially approved the new exchange rate of four yuan to the US dollar, China is simply not eligible for fund assistance.

The World Bank, which is a sister organization, does not make stabilization loans but only loans for specific development projects. And in any event the Bank follows the Fund policy. Hence the Bank would not make a loan to a Government whose currency exchange rate is not approved by the Fund.

The United States Import Export Bank likewise makes no stabilization loans, and a Treasury spokesman has previously said that no present chance exists that the Treasury would do so.

"Sterilising" Money

Under the terms of the ECA agreement, experts said, it is possible to use some Chinese money accumulated through the sale of ECA goods to stabilize the currency. They thought this would be done by "sterilising" some accumulated paper money.

They said this means in effect that it would simply be taken out of circulation. In addition some of this accumulated "local currency" could be used to pay Government expenses to a limited extent if the ECA approves.

The experts explained that both measures would help reduce the deficit which is the basic cause for the Chinese inflation. ECA sources said, however, that there are no present plans to use ECA dollars directly as a backing for the currency.

While it is possible that dollars obtained by Nanking through loans could be used in turn for backing, ECA said that all present loan applications are for reconstruction projects. The backing includes the China Textile Corporation and other enterprises which will get ECA aid. Thus, to the extent that these are helped, the currency will be given support.—United Press.

Economic Adventurers

Melbourne, August 24. Mr. W. MacMahon Ball, leader of the recent Australian goodwill mission to Malaya and South East Asia, said here tonight that Australia should severely discipline economic adventurers who were giving the country a bad name in South East Asia.

These adventurers were exploiting scarcities, he said, and making a quick take-off without thought to the consequences to Australia.

Mr. MacMahon said military operations in Indonesia and Indochina would probably succeed from the purely military point of view, but the success would be short-lived, because the whole of South East Asia was in ferment.—Reuter.

Money Market

Though not yet officially on the normal and Silver Exchange, there were isolated outside transactions in the Gold Yuan during the last two days.

Buyers paid HK$1.40 for a Gold Yuan, while they received only HK$1.20 if they sold.

The CMC has disappeared from the official quotation since Monday.

Gold weakened yesterday to $318.25 a tael at the close, after opening at $321.25.

Plasmas opened at $11.77 1/2 and closed at $11.90 a 100, at the luncheon interval. There were no transactions in the afternoon.

Ticals were weaker at $25.40 a 100.

NEI Guilders which had been quite active during the last two days, opened at $44.50 a 100 in the morning and dropped back to $42.40 in the afternoon.

U.S. dollars dropped further to $5.27.

Sterling was unchanged at $14.18. Australian pounds dropped two cents to $12.53.

Yachting Handbook Available

A Yachting Handbook, edited by Mr. P. D. A. Clark, a student of the Royal Hong Kong Yacht Club, has been issued by the Club. The publication is for members of the Club only. Copies may be obtained from the Secretary.

On the inside covers are coloured illustrations of flag signals and a pocket containing a chart of the Colony's water, giving details of the different anchorages and buoys in the harbour. The book contains all the necessary information on sailing facilities in Hong Kong. In addition to the rules of the Club, there are the regulations for preventing collisions at sea and rules governing different classes of yachts and sailing boats. Tables of distances outside and inside the harbour are included.

White Sox Snap Yankees' Streak

New York, August 24.
The collar-dwelling Chicago White Sox, fresh from three straight victories over the American League leading Cleveland Indians, defeated New York today 6-5.

The defeat snapped the third place Yankees' seven game winning streak and ruined a glorious chance for them to pick up ground on the leaders.

First baseman Tony Lupien paced Chicago's attack with a single, double and home run, driving in two runs and scoring three.

The New York Giants stretched their winning streak to give games as they struck early to defeat Chicago's last place Cubs 7-4 in the National League.

The triumph moved the Giants into fourth place, a half game ahead of Pittsburgh.

Third baseman Sid Gordon and catcher Wes Westrum set the pace

London, August 24.
Glamorganshire, the Welsh county, won the County Cricket Championship for the first time in history today.

A great innings victory over Hampshire, with Yorkshire's failure to beat Somerset, gave the Welshmen the coveted honour.

A jubilant crowd gathered outside the pavilion at Bournemouth after the match.

For 21 years Glamorgan had figured among the lowest sides, never having finished previously higher than sixth. But now they have realised an ambition. Several weeks ago Glamorgan's form pointed to this honour, but they temporarily lost their place at the head of the table. Old stagers were inclined to think that they could not "last the pace," but Glamorgan proved otherwise. They came back to the top and have kept there.

Credit can go in the collective sense to a team which has played bright cricket throughout the season, and to the team which has proved an excellent local talent. They have fostered local talent, but do not hesitate to use qualified "foreigners" until the time comes when an All-Welsh team can be fielded.

Individually perhaps Wilf Wooller, the rugged international, deserves every credit for leading the side to success in his second season as captain. Apart from his sound play he has proved an ideal leader, who may yet lead England. J. C. Clay, now a Test selector, returned to help the team in some of their later matches and at 50 proved still to be a brilliant break bowler.

Glamorgan's record, with one game still to play, is worthy of notice. Of the 26 matches played, they have so far won 13, lost four and drawn six. No decision was reached in two, while three times in

US NATIONAL TENNIS

PATTY AND WOOD BEAT P.I. PAIR

Chestnut Hills, Mass., August 24.
The Filipino pair, Felicissimo, Ampon and Raymond Deyro, were beaten by Budge Patty and Sidney Wood in the National Doubles Tennis Championship here today.

Patty and Wood salvaged a victory from what looked like certain defeat with a sudden shift of court technique that bewildered the Filipinos, the Americans winning 6-4, 3-6, 4-0, 6-3, 6-0.

After Ampon and Deyro had lost the first set, mostly through error, they burned drives past their American opponents consistently to sweep the second and third sets.

It was at this point that Patty and Wood abandoned their usual driving game and began playing deep, lofting, mushy shots that forced Ampon and Deyro to play a running overhead game where their lack of height put them at a disadvantage.

VETERANS TO DEFEND DAVIS CUP

New York, August 25.
Four American Davis Cup veterans have been chosen to defend the famous tennis trophy against Australia in the challenge round at Forest Hills from September 4 to September 6.

The cup selection committee chose to bank on these veterans to turn back the Aussies: Ted Schroeder, Frankie Parker, Gardnar Mulloy and Bill Talbert.

Schroeder teamed with Jack Kramer to win back the international team trophy at Melbourne the winter before last, and the same pair defended it successfully last summer at Forest Hills. Kramer since has turned professional.

Parker, Mulloy and Talbert also made the trip to Melbourne, but did not play in the challenge round.

Present indications are that this will be another two-man team, with Schroeder and Parker playing both singles matches and partnering in the doubles.

Talbert, however, made a strong bid for a singles assignment by winning last week's Newport tournament, in which all the big shots competed.

The Australians will challenge with the same team which edged out a 3-2 win over the Czechs in last week's inter-zone final at Boston.

Adrian Quist and Billy Sidwell played the singles and Colin Long and Geoff Brown paired in the doubles. The alignment could be altered for the challenge round.—Associated Press.

Hospitals Get Olympic Leftovers

London, August 24.
Olympic officials today started deliveries to leading London hospitals of 90 tons of foodstuffs and several demijohns of red wine left behind by Olympic teams.

Sixty tons of the total—including white flour, coffee, sugar, butter, margarine, dried fruit, milk, powder, barley, rice, spaghetti, vegetables and fresh fruit—had been left by the Argentine squad at Richmond Park.

Five three-ton trucks today carried the first loads from Richmond to the London Hospital, and to Guy's, St. George's and Westminster.—United Press.

SWIMMING

VRC - Chinese YMCA Prelude To Colony Championships

The big swimming show in the programme leading up to the Colony Championships is the Victoria Recreation Club-Chinese YMCA meeting set for Saturday in the V.R.C. bath.

There will be double competition in this affair as the Chinese "Y" is sending a junior team as well. But only the points scored by the senior swimmers will be counted in the match.

The race to win on Saturday night is the Senior 200 yards breast stroke. Young Ying-chak, the reigning champion over this distance, will be meeting Johnnie Yvanovich, V.R.C. highest hope for the same event in the championship. Both the swimmers have returned time within the vicinity of 2 minutes 50 seconds.

Cheung Chung-yin (Chinese "Y") and Sonny Carvalho (V.R.C.) make up the race.

The fifth lane will be occupied by Luckie Rose who will be swimming against the four men. Early this season Luckie returned the time of 2 minutes 58 seconds in a non-competing exhibition. With strong competition coming from the two star breast stroke swimmers, it will be interesting to hold a clock on her for this event. Afterward, however, will not be regarded in the match.

The long awaited appearance of the Wong sisters has at last come. Both Joan and Sybil Wong—responsible for the biggest headlines to come off the National Meet in Shanghai last May—are starting for the Chinese "Y" on Saturday: Joan in the 100 yards free style against V.R.C.'s Celeste Gutierrez, Joan and Cynthia Eager, and Sybil in the 100 yards breast stroke exhibition. This will be the only occasion Hong Kong will be seeing the two all-China swimming stars this year as they are not entering in the colony championships.

May Be Easy
In the 50 yards free-style, George Saunders should have an easy time against YMCA's Chan Chui-cheung and Choi Lee-hung while Sonny Monteiro will be meeting the same opposition in the 100 yards free-style.

Alastair McEwan, the most promising swimmer in the free-style for the sprints and middle distances will be one of the leading characters in the V.R.C. junior team. His last three performances—in less than two weeks—for the 100 free had been 68, 65, 63 seconds, respectively. With him in the 100 is team mate Gordon Randall who also does an average 68; Lau Kam-hung and Leung Man-wai.

Ron Thompson, stylish butterfly swimmer, but who had been ill for a long spell, will be performing in his specialty with Norman Reynolds (back stroke), to hold out against what the Chinese side have to offer.

Programme
1. Senior inter-club 50 yards free style—Choi Lee-hung, Chan Chui-cheung, George Saunders and J.E. Gomez.
2. Junior inter-club 100 yards free style—Lau Kam-hung, Wong Kwai-cho, G. Randall and Alastair McEwan.

Exhausted
They exhausted themselves in that fourth set and just lacked strength to regain the initiative in the last set which the Americans swept by a lone score.

Meanwhile, Frankie Parker of Hollywood and Ted Schroeder of Glendale, California, rated nominees for the United States Davis Cup team, were breezing through their second round match.

The second seeded Westerners beat Wilmer Alston of America and Harry Hopman of Australia 6-3, 6-4, 6-2.

Other scores: The Australians, Adrian Quist and Billy Sidwell, defeated the Americans, Tom Chambers and George Richards, 6-1, 6-4, 6-1.

The Americans, Gardner Mulloy and Billy Talbert, defeated the Americans, Raymond Nasher and Edward Serves, 6-3, 6-4, 6-1.

In the women's division, the top women's pair, Miss Louise Brough and Miss Margaret Osborne, defeated Miss Dorothy Head and Miss Nancy Morrison, 6-1, 6-0.—United Press.

So Sorry
"I tried to prevent the war but it came to pass," he told Mr. Waters. He regretted that Australia was hurt in the process.

The new Japan—the Emperor pictured as a Pacific freedom-loving democracy. The Japanese people would want to preserve peace in the Pacific; Japan had always wanted peace for all nations, he added.

Mr. Waters told the Emperor about the publicity in Australia associated with the Imperial reception of the Australian Parliamentary delegation. "He laughed and enjoyed the story," Mr. Waters said.

Mr. Waters said that he found the Emperor well acquainted with many of the subjects discussed.
